It has been a busy last week of a long half term. The children have worked so hard and settled in well this half term and we are proud of all they have achieved. Our 'Lost World' topic is well under way now and Year 1 and 2 have started the preparations for their documentaries. One of many things to look out for after half term! On Thursday their half term homework was handed out, including the script for this year's nativity (yes, it's that time already). Please help your children learn their lines as house point will be rewarded to those that have mastered them. Reception have been busy too. I had the pleasure of teaching them on Wednesday. We practiced ball skills in PE, and worked on the number 5 and the letters m, g and d. They were brilliant! On Thursday we celebrated Diwali. Kajal (Virrae's mum) came into school and taught all children some dance moves, which were put together in a short routine. She also spoke to the children about Diwali and some of the traditions. It was a wonderful morning. From all of us a big thank you to Kajal for spending the morning with us. The children spent the afternoon choosing from a range of art activities related to Diwali. The highlight for today was of course the Halloween Disco, organized by the PTA. The children had such a brilliant time and the event was very well organized. A big thank you too to our PTA for everything they organize for the children and the school.

That leaves me to wish you a wonderful and restful half term. We very much hope to have a new, working boiler after half term as it is getting rather cold. I look forward to welcoming you all back on Monday 4th November.
