Happy VE day! I hope you are able to celebrate this special day. The weather promises to be good this weekend, a perfect opportunity to have a picnics or tea party. Don't forget to take a nice photograph or record a short video for our Dropmore VE Day video. I am so looking forward to watching this and seeing our children that we miss so much! This week we have recorded our second sharing assembly video, which has been posted on Google Classroom and Tapestry. Please take a little bit of time to watch this and join in. I am interested to find out if this is valued by our children. Please could you add a short comment if you have watched it? Looking at Tapestry and Google Classroom I can see that you (and the teachers) have had another busy week. There are so many nice pictures and examples of work to choose from! In Reception the children have been making British Flags and planning out tea parties from home to celebrate VE Day. Year 1 have been learning about looking after pets and what pets might do in their spare time away from their owners. In Maths Year 1 has been exploring halves and quarters of shapes and amounts. Year 2 have been learning about the author Anthony Browne. They have been working really hard on their handwriting, both joined and un-joined, which is looking great! In KS1 the children have started their topic on Britain, learning about the continents and Europe, with a challenge to give a morning greeting in any European language. They have made some wonderful flags and art based on the focus artist Van Gogh. Next week we will have our first ever ZOOM governor meetings. Have a wonderful long weekend. Take care and keep well.
